

NIGERIA WILL OVERCOME RECESSION IF THE ITF EXPLOITS ITS COMPARATIVE ADVANTAGE

Nigeria would overcome the present economic recession it is currently experiencing, if the Industrial Training Fund (ITF) effectively utilizes its experienced Management Team, expertise of its workforce and its expansive network, the Director-General of the ITF Sir Joseph Ntung Ari has said.

The DG expressed this optimism when he received in audience the Leadership and members of the Knights of St. Mulumba who were in his office on a congratulatory visit.

He described the ITF Management Team as a dependable ally which would help him to reposition the Fund for greater efficiency.

Although the DG lauded the ability of the Fund's staff, he also admonished the workforce to be more committed in order to achieve the mandate of the Fund.

The DG thanked the Knights for their visit and prayers for him, saying that they were an integral part of him and therefore special.

Earlier in his remark, the Metro Chancellor represented by the Metropolitan Council Secretary, Brother Simon Abbah felicitated with the DG on his appointment and urged him to work with the Management as a team in order to achieve results.

Brother Attah also appealed to the management to accord the Director General their maximum support in order for him to succeed.
